BIG HEAT

We're Kind of a Big Deal in Warehouses.

For warehouses & distribution centers, the winter months can present an array of challenges. Warehouses can easily be separated into different heating zones based on temperature needs. Not all areas of the building require the same heating requirements, especially in areas that are automated or unoccupied for periods of time. By installing King Electric Warehouse Heaters in each zone, you can easily heat only the areas in use and conserve energy.
